UNICEF CO-CHAIRMEN—Socrates Ladner and Melinda Smith, Bay High seniors, are this year's co-chairmen of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund annual Halloween fund raising drive. Unicef volunteers will conduct a door-to-door campaign Monday night from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Theme of the drive is "Trick-or-Treat for Unicef." A kick-off meeting will be held at Christ Episcopal Church.

Bell puts new electronic switching system on line

Some areas of Hancock County experienced a mite of trouble on Saturday following South Central Bell bringing its new $2 million plus, fully automated telephone exchange in Bay St. Louis into full operation.

A letter, signed by F.M. Kyle, district manager, was issued by the company about one week back, explaining the new dialing procedures necessary to make the equipment function.

"The main difference is that subscribers must dial all the digits in the number, even though it is a local call."

Topsail museum schooner to visit coast for month

by JAKE JACOB

The three-masted topsail schooner, Artemis, a 75 year old square rigged sailing vessel, now serving as a museum ship, will visit Gulfport for a month-long stay, starting November 11. While in port it will be open to visitors from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., daily.

A relic from the days when canvas backed vessels plied the shipping lanes of the world, Artemis participated in the Bicentennial's "Operation Sail" in New York City, and is now wearing its way towards the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Her visit here is being sponsored jointly by the Port of Gulfport and the Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce.

TOPSAIL SCHOONER ARTEMIS

Harry P. Hewes, commodore, Gulfport Yacht Club, will head a party of coast sailors, to include the commodores of Bay-Waveland and Pass Christian Yacht Clubs, who will meet the vessel offshore and sail her into Gulfport.

Admission to the vessel is $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children. Built in 1902 and launched on January 4, 1903, the wooden ship, the last in Lloyd's Shipping Registry as of 1976, is fastened with treenails and retains her original character.

The idea of having a touring museum ship, to take to people residing in port cities, was conceived by Rick and Sharron Harrington.

Several years ago they founded the Gulf Coast Maritime Museum and began a search for the right kind of ship. The vessel they envisaged had to be capable of not only bringing sailing history to the ports of the Gulf but also be sufficient unto itself to house gathered artifacts and historical data on "The Age of Sail."

In addition to nautical exhibits and an audio visual presentation, the Harringtons have the beginning of a collection of Gulf Coast maritime history and the area's heritage from the sea.

The Artemis has acquired some modern navigation equipment but retains the old ways, as exhibited in the artifacts and tools of her past.

The founders of the museum said this week that their intent is to recall and maintain of the heritage left by "Artemis and her sisters."

"We hope that through Artemis and her background a development of the arts and crafts involved in building, maintaining, and sailing these great creations of man will be revived and kept alive for generations to come."

"We give special emphasis to helping children understand the ship and her workings as only through children it is, felt—can a true appreciation of these, fine old ships be fully developed and flowered, the curators said.

Compretta bill endorsed

State wetlands lease policy defended by commissioner

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Gulf Coast Regional School Boards Association passed a resolution Thursday night supporting a bill by State Representative J.P. Compretta to channel monies from state oil leases on 16th section lands back to the respective school districts.

The resolution, passed at an association meeting at Bay High School, will be forwarded to the lieutenant governor requesting he assign the bill to a favorable committee in the forthcoming legislative session in Jackson.

A unanimous vote on the resolution, moved by Milton Nowell of Gulfport, followed an address to the association by John L. Ainsworth, state lands commissioner.

"If this bill goes to the education committee, it's as dead as a door knob," Ainsworth said.

The commissioner said he is urging the lieutenant governor to assign the bill to the judiciary committee.

"There has been a considerable amount of controversy and misunderstanding surrounding the state's leasing of wetlands," Ainsworth said.

The commissioner defended the state's position in the leasing controversy, stating, "We are not expropriating private lands."

"Acreage defined in wetlands mineral leases is only an estimate," Ainsworth said, adding, "...most of this land is defined as being below mean high tides."

Mississippi Gulf Coast school districts hold 16th section lands which also fall within the jurisdiction of the state as protected wetlands.

In addition, many private land holders claim the state has issued mineral leases on lands on which their families have paid taxes for many years.

These fringe lands bordering streams, bayous and rivers are legally defined as state lands when they are below mean high tide, but private interests as well as school districts claim the state has exceeded its jurisdiction in leases granted thus far.

When 16th section school lands also fall within coastal wetlands, Ainsworth said, "...it must be remembered 16th section lands are in reality state lands which are administered by the county."

These lands are held in public trust by the state and its subordinate agencies, Ainsworth noted, adding, "In this case, the state's greater public land trust took precedence according to an attorney general's ruling."

"We were still arguing this point when the first lease bids came in," the commissioner continued.

On Hancock County 16th section lands, a high bid of $175,000 was received with the next highest bid only $24,000.

"We were afraid not to accept that high bid," Ainsworth said as he argued that if the state had refused the bids and relinquished the bidding procedure to the counties, it is likely new bids would have come in some $150,000 lower.

"When the state offers a lease, there is a much broader participation,"

Ainsworth said.

The mineral lease commission is not trying to take anything away from anybody, especially Hancock County, the commissioner feels.

"We can't surrender the state's interest in these lands—that's a judicial decision," he stated.

But many private land holders are trying to avoid the costly procedure of defending their holdings through the courts.

Ainsworth did not elaborate on relief for private land holders, but he said the school districts' wetlands interests will be protected if the Compretta bill becomes law.

The bill would return the $175,000 bonus paid to the state to the Hancock County school districts.

"But if you don't make some noise about it, the bill's chances of passage are zero," he said in trying to generate support for the measure through the school board members.

Private interests, on the other hand, are hoping that school district success in claiming bonus and royalty fees from wetlands mineral leases will also have the effect of saving landholders the necessity of taking their cases through the courts.

City, county to split

Coleman US-90 access

Coleman Avenue will become the third thoroughfare through Waveland extending from US-90 to the beach when work is completed in the spring.

Mayor John Longo Jr. and A. A. Kellar, Hancock County District Two supervisor, have announced plans for the city and county to jointly finance the extension of Coleman Avenue from St. Joseph Street to US-90.

A cost estimate of between $40,000 and $50,000 has been placed on the project which, when completed, will give the Coleman Avenue business district direct access to US-90.

Public sentiment for the Coleman Avenue extension swelled when Our Shopping Center on US-90 at Waveland Avenue began to draw residents and visitors away from the Coleman Avenue shopping area.

Nicholson and Waveland Avenues are the two existing thorough streets in the city.

Initial phase of the Coleman extension calls for removal of pine trees for a 24-foot right-of-way.

STATE LAND COMMISSIONER John L. Ainsworth addresses a gathering of the Gulf Coast Regional School Boards Association at Bay High School Thursday night. Ainsworth outlined the state's position in the controversial leasing of wetlands for oil and gas exploration. (Staff photo—Edgar Perez)

Three or four inches of clay gravel will then be allowed to pack during the coming winter months, and asphalt surfacing should be completed in the spring or early summer, the officials said.

Educators will eye management responsibility

School board members, superintendents and principals from Hancock County and Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Districts this week will attend a special two-day conference in Long Beach.

Sponsored by the Mississippi School Boards Association, the conference will center on school management responsibility.

Site of the conference, slated for Monday and Tuesday, is the Gulf Park campus of the University of Southern Mississippi.

"Laws affecting schools grow more complex every day," said John L. Hartman, executive director of the MSBA.

"Principals are in the firing line daily, both as administrators as well as educators, and have much in common with school board members who must see that laws governing schools are properly implemented," Hartman said.

This conference is designed to help school board members, superintendents and principals work together with principals in these areas," Hartman said.

Hartman will open a general session Monday evening with a discussion of the conference theme, "Working with the marginal teacher: management's responsibility."

Tuesday's agenda includes study of the school employment Procedures Act passed by the state legislature earlier this year.

Trinity Guild plans annual rummage sale

By JOE PILET
Public Relations for
St. Monica of Trinity

The time, the date and the place for the annual St. Monica Rummage Sale has been set, according to Mmes. Clark Gallaher, Theo T. Moore and Walter Carter, all of Pass Christian and members of the Guild which sponsors the event designed to benefit those who donate, those who buy, and also orphans and charitable institutions.

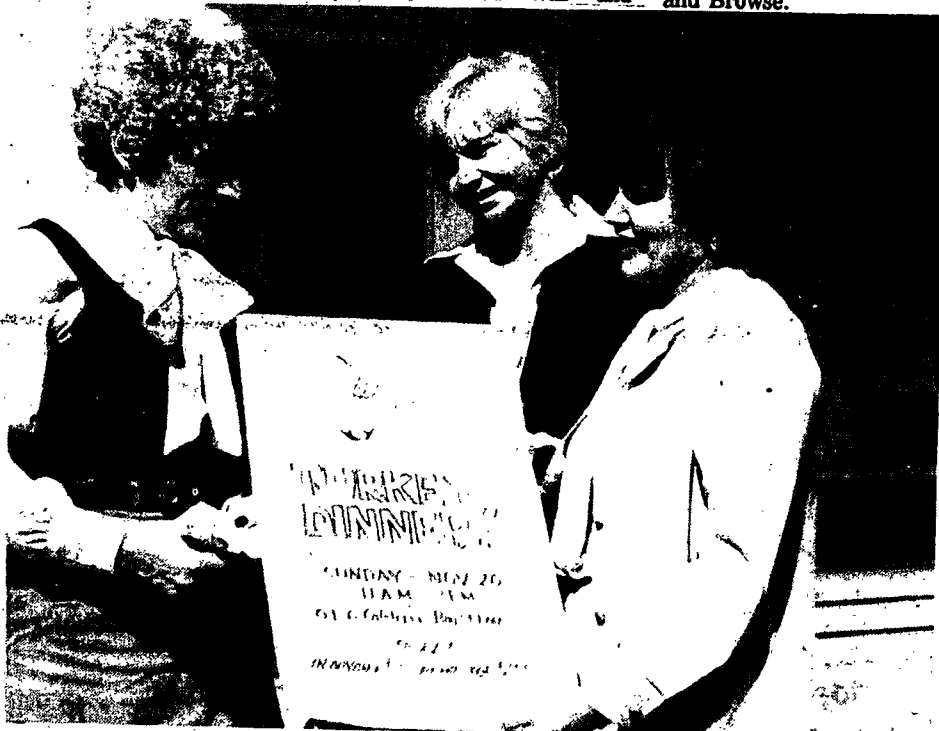

On Friday, Nov. 4, in Trinity Parish House located on Church Street at St. Louis in Pass Christian, and between the hours of 12 noon and 5 p.m. all members of the St. Monica Guild will serve as sales persons at counters and table loaded with assorted household items, white elephants, bric-a-brac, books, linens, clothing in all sizes for men, women and children, at bargain prices. The sale will continue on Saturday, Nov. 5 from 9 a.m. until 12 noon. During the last hour of the sale all items will sell at half price. The building must be vacated at the end of the sale and all left over items will be donated to charitable organizations such as Good Will and

Salvation Army and sent to the Protestant Home of Natchez.

Mrs. Walter Carter, who has long worked with the Rummage Sales, said, "In this Rummage Sale, we feel that everybody gets a bargain. The people who donate give with the knowledge that their contributions will go for a worthy cause and in many cases enable those who could not otherwise afford them, selections of needed garments and household items; the profits from sales go toward church related causes; the boxes and racks of left over items are given to charitable institutions to further their endeavors.

"And," reminded Mrs. Edith deVries, "we clear out closets, attics and storage rooms. This gives us space we need for the year's accumulation acquired since the last rummage sale."

Rummage Sales and Flea Markets have grown into one of the most popular hobbies for people of all ages. The St. Monica Guild cordially invites the general public to "Come and Browse."

OLA PTO TURKEY DINNER—Our Lady's Academy Parent-Teacher Organization is sponsoring a turkey dinner Sunday, Nov. 20, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Our Lady of The Gulf school cafeteria. ## America the Beautiful asked as new U.S. anthem

By Joe Pilet

A request that America the Beautiful be designated as our National Anthem is now in the form of a petition and is spearheaded by Mrs. Robert G. Rosegrant of Putney, Vermont.

The petition is worded: "We are no longer a nation at war. We are in a new age. We are increasingly aware of the need to give our land loving care and to foster harmony and brotherhood among all of our people. Pray, then, let our anthem reflect the true ideals of our founding fathers. "America the Beautiful" is closer to the true spirit of America. Apart from anything else, "America the Beautiful" is also easier for us to sing."

Mrs. Rosegrant said, "Thousands have signed the petition and they are still coming in every day. Articles have appeared in papers and magazines...there has been nationwide coverage in local newspapers via AP and UPI and CBS radio and television have carried the news across the land."

It is hoped that those in Mississippi will support the petition. Those in favor of the change should write to either Senator James Eastland or Senator John C. Stennis.

Mrs. Rosegrant said, "Word your letter in your own way, but tell them that you want AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL to become our national anthem."

Then she posed the question: "Are there enough of us in this big country who can bring about a change without any of the trappings of lobbyists, influence, deals?

wouldn't it be wonderful to have it happen?"

Dinner, bazaar is CE women's annual event

The Women of Christ Episcopal Church of Bay St. Louis will hold their annual bazaar and dinner on Wednesday, Nov. 9, at the Parish House, 912 South Beach Blvd. The dinner has been a tradition for over 25 years and is a much anticipated event.

The bazaar will be held from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. There will be many unusual items on sale this year. Especially attractive are the hand-carved toys and furnishings made by George Janvier, Jr., and other interesting articles made by parishioners and friends.

The dinner consisting of turkey, dressing, spinach souffle, sweet potatoes, green bean casserole, Waldorf salad, slaw and dessert, will be served from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Take-outs will be available.

Mrs. James Coggin is chairman of the bazaar and Mrs. Don McCulloch is chairman of the dinner. Tickets may be obtained from members, and at Nell Frisbie Realtor, Inc., Bay St. Louis, and Waveland Drug Store, Waveland.

Pearlington wedding to unite couple

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keys of Pearlington, Miss., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dora, to Hubert O'Neal Fulton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fulton, also of Pearlington.

The bride-elect is a senior at Hancock North Central High School.

The prospective groom, a 1977 graduate of Hancock North Central High School, is presently stationed with the U.S. Army at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The wedding will be solemnized Saturday, Nov. 5, at New Hope Baptist Church, Pearlington. A reception will follow at 5 p.m. at the Odd Fellows Hall in Pearlington.

MRS. MARK DAVIS, the former Miss Donna Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Parker of Gonzales, La., formerly of Waveland, was married Sept. 23 at the St. Alphonsus Catholic Church. Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Bay Senior High School, Class of '73. The groom, Mark Davis, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davis of Baton Rouge. The couple will reside in that city upon return from their honeymoon.

THANK YOU

The "David C. Chasez Fund" has been closed at the Hancock Bank. However, any contributions still outstanding can be forwarded to David C. Chasez, Route 3, Box 355, Bay St. Louis, Miss. 39520, according to Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel A. Dansereau, fund organizers.

DEBORAH M. COLLINS

Mrs. Collins to teach in Biloxi H.S.

Deborah Marie Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Longo, Jr. of Waveland, has been employed by Biloxi Public Schools as a high school science teacher, announced Carl Lawrence, director of the University of Southern Mississippi Placement Bureau.

Collins graduated from USM in May 1976 with a B.S. degree in science education and a minor in secondary education. She is a former student of Bay St. Louis High School and Pearl River Junior College.

She is the wife of Norman F. Collins of Biloxi. He is a former student of USM and graduated in May.

Retarded Citizen president speaks to Hancock chapter

By JANE BAUMGARTNER

The October meeting of Hancock County Association for Mentally Retarded Citizens was held Oct. 25 at 7:30 at the Gulf National Bank. Mr. Gus Bowering, president of the state association, Mississippi Association for Retarded Citizens was the invited speaker. Mr. Bowering is supervisor of Special Education for the Hattiesburg Schools.

He announced that the State Association had recently decided to hire a paid secretary. This position will be filled with a person specifically trained to help parents from local chapters become an active force to establish more resources for their exceptional children. He saw the role of the local chapter an active one in three areas:

1. Advocacy
2. Writing of grants for services
3. Establishing of services through local funds.

The local chapters were to be a catalytic force in the community. They are to start the programs but not get bogged down maintaining a program over a long period of time. He said a community resource should be found to operate programs and A.R.C. should be only a back-up. He gave an example of one program the association operated several times when the local agencies could no longer maintain it. The program had the most enthusiastic support in the community because more people were familiar with it.

Mr. Gus Bowering brought with him an enthusiastic and lovely lady, Mrs. Abbie Rogers. Mrs. Rogers shared with us her experiences in operating for several years a summer camp for handicapped children. The camp has grown from 17 to 70 children. She has found the community most generous when they know the children have unmet needs.

The next meeting of Hancock Association for Retarded Citizens will meet November 22 at 7:30 p.m. at Gulf National Bank.

Band will perform at half time.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

WERE YOU IN CHURCH LAST SUNDAY? Did you join that careless and indifferent host across the land who could and should have been in the house of God last Sunday but were not?

Did you ever stop to think seriously about what your absence did? Actually, you voted to close the church; not intentionally, nor maliciously, but carelessly, lazily, thoughtlessly, indifferently, you voted. You voted to close its doors that its witness and testimony might be stopped. You voted to close the open Bible on the pulpit - the Bible given us by years of struggle and by the blood of martyrs who died that we might have it to read. You voted that the children of the Sunday School no longer be taught the sublime truths of the Scriptures and no longer lift their voices in singing, "Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so." You voted for the voice of the choir and the congregation to be stilled and that they no longer sing in united praise, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Your absence was much more serious than you intended! For you voted for every missionary to be called home, all native workers supported by the churches to stop preaching, every hospital, every orphanage, every school and every missionary project to be abandoned, every influence for the right and for the good and for truth in our community to be curtailed and finally stopped. You voted for the darkness of pagan superstition, the degrading influences of sin, the blight of ignorance, and the curse of selfish greed once more to settle their damning weight on the shoulders of an already over-burdened world.

By your action (your absence) you voted all this, I say, and more too - things the human heart cannot grasp nor find words to adequately express. Carelessly, lazily, indifferently, you voted. For, you see, you could have gone, and should have gone, but you did not. You stayed away from church services last Sunday.

We may not be able to do all we would like to do; but unless we are providentially hindered, we can be present...and that is important...to us, to our church, and to others. - L. Walker.

Bears tame Wildcats 14-6

Pearl River Junior College's fourth quarter magic fell through here Thursday night as the Southwest Bears took over third place in the south division with a 14-6 win over the Wildcats in Summit.

The loss put the Wildcats with a 5-4 overall mark, with Copiah-Lincoln the only team remaining on the 1977 schedule. The Cats will meet the Wolves Saturday week here at the Doble Holden Stadium.

Pearl River jumped to their usual early lead, when quarterback Joey Howard pitched to Jessie Carter on a fourth down option from the four yard line. Carter scampered into the end zone from the left side and PRC led 6-0 with 4:04 to go in the first. Philip Lee's PAT was no good. The drive covered 51 yards in 8 plays and was typical of the early scoring trend the Wildcats have followed the past five games.

Early in the second period, Southwest, behind the running of star tailback Anthony Williams moved the ball down to the PRC 7 before being forced to try a 25 yard field goal. Bubba Willis's boot was wide to the left and Pearl River had held the Bears' 60 yard march after 14 consecutive plays.

Pearl River took the ball on their own 20 and recovered it to the 39 before Jeff Davis fumbled and Southwest recovered at the 44. Quarterback Gary Lewis passed to Russell Knighten for 16 yards, and then hit Randy Caston with an 18 yard pass play to the 10. Williams carried the ball three straight times before Lewis managed to take it in on fourth down from about the three inch line.

Willis' extra point try was wide to the left and with 58 seconds remaining in the first half, it was all tied up at 6.

Midway through the third quarter Southwest took the ball at the Pearl River 39 yard line and quarterback Lewis immediately ran down to the Wildcat 4. Three plays later, Rusty Tood took it over from the one. Head coach Floyd Davis called for a two point conversion and Lewis' pass to Kadious Toney for two points made it 14-7 with 7:06 to go in the third.

Late in the fourth quarter it looked as if the old River magic might be back as the Wildcats marched from their own 20 to the Bears' 5 and faced a first and goal. James Smith, from Pearl River Central was the big man, as he carries six times for 35 yards and Joey Howard connected with Scott Arban for a 37 yard gain in mid-field.

At the five, however, things got real tough, as Smith picked up one on first down; his brother Bill Smith was stopped for no gain and then Howard was stopped for a minus three. Howard's fourth and goal pass from the seven sailed out of the endzone.

Piazza's toe punts him to GSC honors

Bay High graduate Sam Piazza of Waveland is the leading kicker in the Gulf South Conference with a 43.1 yard season average.

Piazza, a senior at Delta State University in Cleveland, moved into the number one punting position after an outstanding effort last Saturday against Tennessee-Martin.

In that game, Piazza punted seven times for an average of 46.3 yards. His longest kick in the game traveled 52 yards.

The former Pearl River Junior College lineman has achieved success this year at Delta in spite of a broken finger sustained in the Delta-Troy State contest two weeks ago.

Delta's offensive line coach Jerry Holt rates Piazza as "the most consistent offensive lineman week in and week out this season."

"Sam is our quickest offensive lineman and is probably one of the strongest," Holt feels.

While at Pearl River, Piazza was named the best offensive lineman in the Junior College South Division.

He also was all-state and played in the Mississippi Junior College All-Star game in 1976. Piazza will finish his undergraduate work in physical education next spring and is considering post-graduate work in high school administration.

Hawks are for real in 18-0 victory over Rebels

by ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hawks of Hancock North Central continue on their winning ways with victory number eight of the season by defeating a big Notre Dame team, 18-0.

"We were satisfied with the big 44 yard play in the first quarter, a 44 yard touchdown run by Greg Ladner," stated Hawk coach Irvin Ladner. The TD gave the Hawks the points it needed for victory with additional help on a Rocky Cuevas field goal of 32 yards in the third quarter and later a two yard sneak by Vincent Adams for a TD. Adams then passed to Mark Ladner for a two point conversion giving the Hawks a total of 18 points to the Rebels zero.

"On our second TD, quarterback Adams connected on two key passes to Mark Ladner which set up Adams TD which was their second of the game, each pass was for about 15 yards," said coach Favre.

Coach Favre also added, "We didn't move the ball as well as we did in other games because the Rebels were real big and hard to move the ball against. Our defensive unit as a team played a fine game by not allowing the Rebels to cross the Hawks 20 during the game."

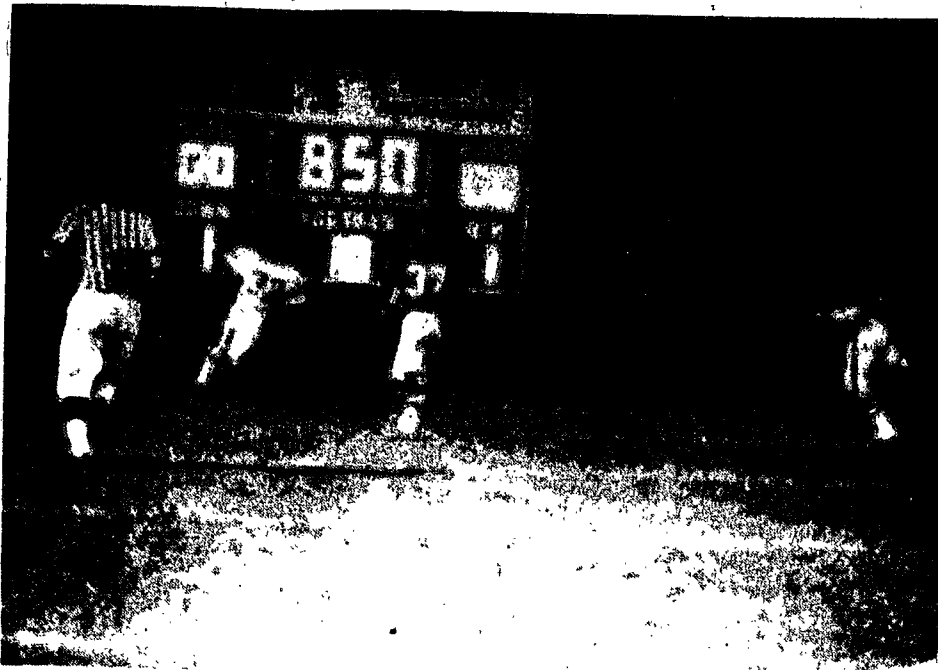

"Rocky Cuevas had his finest game of the season in kicking. His field goal had plenty to spare and his punts kept Notre Dame in trouble and kick-offs were all deep into Rebel territory. We have allowed only 32 points this season in eight games and our offense has scored 176 points which makes a coach real proud," stated coach Favre.

Next week the Hawks will entertain close rival Poplarville at home for the last regular home game of the season and coach Favre expects an overflow crowd to witness this game.

Pass Christian downs Stanislaus

by ELLIS CUEVAS

The Pass Christian Pirates downed the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws 35-20 Friday night in an explosive high scoring game.

The game was highlighted by spectacular offensive and defensive plays by both teams.

The Pirates scored with 8:49 left in the first quarter when Virgil Swanier passed to John Pat Swanier for a 43 yard score. The PAT after by Kevin Gallagher with Pat Barnes holding was good to give Pass Christian a 7-0 lead.

It took the Pirates only their fourth play of the game to make the first touchdown covering 55 yards.

The Pirates kicked-off to the Rocks and they made a first down, with the ball on their own 47 on a fourth and three they tried to get a first down on a faked punt by Scott Senner who ended up losing two yards.

Pass Christian took over and on the first play Jay Rousseau of the Rocks intercepted a V. Swanier pass on the SSC 32. The Rocks had to punt after being closed down by the Pirate defense. A good punt by Senner put the ball on the Pass 13 yard line.

The Pirates moved out to their 24 yard line for a first down when Gene Rogers for the Rocks recovered a V. Swanier pithout for Stanislaus on the Pass 15 yard line.

Given this opportunity the Rocks took five plays to score with Bill Kergosien getting the last two yards for a score.

Peter Bernheim held for the point after by Charles Armato tying the score 7-7, 46 seconds left first quarter.

The Pirates second score came after a Bernheim pass was intercepted by Gene Lang, which he ran in for a score but was called back on a clip after the interception giving the Pirates the ball on the Rocks 25. On the Pirates sixth play Lang scored on a seven yard run. Gallagher's PAT was again good giving Pass Christian a 14-7 lead, 6:08 to go in the second quarter.

The Rock-A-Chaws came back with 65 yards in eight plays with Bill Kergosien scoring on a 20 yarder for his second score of the game: The Rocks tried for a two point conversion but missed on a pass. With 2:32 left in the second quarter the Pirates lead 14-13, which was the score at halftime with the Pirates in possession of the ball on their 48. The pirates had a one point lead at halftime with the Rocks leading in first downs five to four.

Matt Schloegel kicked-off to start the second half with Robert Bailey bringing the ball out to the Pirate 28.

It took the explosive Pirates only three plays to cover 74 yards for a score.

From 1912 to 1960 the U.S. House of Representatives had 435 members. With the admission to statehood of Alaska and Hawaii two more representatives were added, but today because of reapportionment there are 435 once again.

yards with quarterback V. Swanier pitching out at the last second to Gene Lang for a 52 yard run down the sidelines with 9:51 left in the third quarter giving the Pirates a 21-13 lead after Gallagher's third PAT was good.

The Rocks were unable to register a first down after the kick-off and were forced to punt with Robert Bailey bringing the ball back to the Stanislaus 41.

V. Swanier took only one play on a beautiful pass to John Pat Swanier for another quick Pass Christian score. It was John Swanier's second pass catch for a score. The Pirates faked the PAT and tried for two but were unsuccessful, the Pirates were leading 27-13 with 6:52 to go in the third quarter.

Stanislaus started a drive late in the third quarter from its own 21, which lead to a score with 9:52 left in the fourth quarter. Peter Bernheim hit Perre Cable for a 26 yard score on a beautiful pass.

The point after by Armato was good making the score 27-20, giving the Pirates a seven point lead.

On the kick-off the ball went out of bounds and the Pirates took over on their 40 yard line. It took the Pirates eight plays for the final score of the game with Gene Lang moving in for the score from the Rocks two. The Pirates passed for a two point conversion making the score 35-20 in favor of the

The Pirate defense dug in after the kick-off forcing the Rocks to punt, on the return Robert Bailey almost busted it for a score but was stopped on the SSC 14. Three 15 yard penalties put the ball back to the Pirates 41 giving them a first down and 55.

The Pirates were forced to punt and the Rocks ended the game with the ball on their 20 with a first down.

The game was full of spectacular plays. Pirates Robert Bailey was always a threat on punts and kick-off returns, picking off many long gainers.

Running back Bill Kergosien had his third game in a row of over 100 yards picking up 122 yards on the ground.

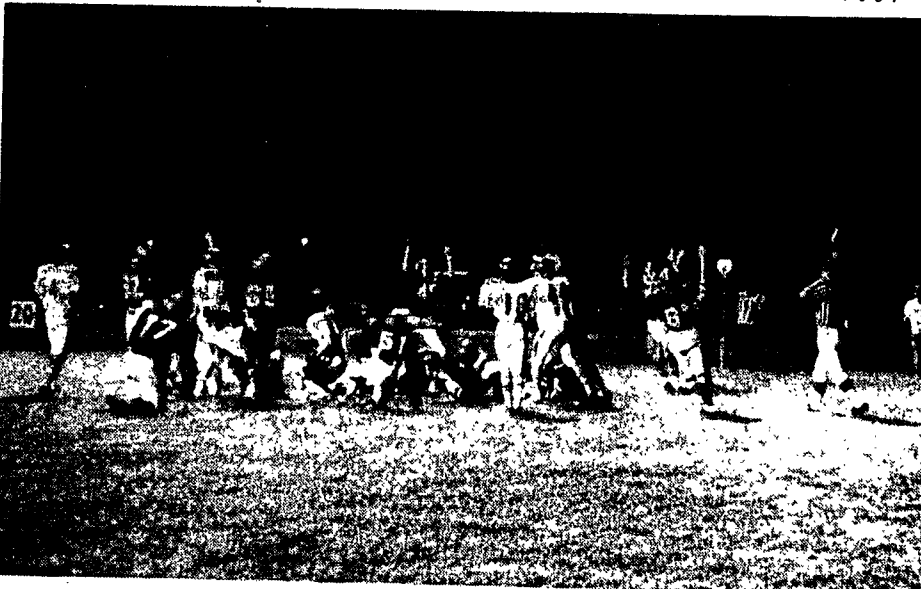

Pirates quarterback Virgil Swanier had some nice gainers on keepers, Malcom Dedeaux and Gene Lang made long gainers. Pass quarterback Pat Barnes called a few plays for the Pirates for nice gainers.

Throughout the game 2-1 stand out defensive plays were big by both teams, several big plays were made by the Rocks

James McKeough. Coach Bob Rogers Pirates now 7-1 will face Long Beach, 5-3, next week. Coach Bill Poole's Rocks 3-4-1 will face rugged East Central in Stanislaus' Homecoming tilt next Friday.

"The state is not going to take anyone's property," he reassured his listeners.

"These decisions on coastal wetlands have national ramifications," Ainsworth said, adding, "We're talking about a tremendous amount of revenue."

He said some $1.4 million has been paid to the state by the first applicants for mineral leases in Jackson County, plus 15 per cent of all revenue from the wells if they are successful.

In related action, the association also voted to schedule a special meeting of the group in Ocean Springs together with members of the legislative delegations which coincide with the jurisdictions of the members.

The meeting, with date to be set, will be designed to allow school board members to discuss with the legislators priorities for bills affecting schools prior to the start of the legislature's next session.

Several members expressed disappointment that no legislators attended Thursday night's meeting.

Ainsworth said the legislators were in Jackson "...practicing self-preservation."

In a discussion of legislative priorities following Ainsworth's address, Orin Miller of the Harrison County school board proposed a 30-hour orientation course be established as a requirement for all freshmen school board members.

"In many cases, new school board members spend their first year trying to figure out what's going on," Miller said.

"Let education get its own house in order," he said.

"The public will get a better opinion of school boards if we do something to improve ourselves."

"When it spots a receiver off a telephone (phone off the hook), the equipment takes that number temporarily out of service."

"If the customer replaces the receiver, service will be automatically restored at the next check," Kyle explained.

Due to the number of subscribers now served by the exchange, a delay in service restoration will be experienced after a telephone is put back on its cradle.

"If a large number of customers leave the receivers off their telephones, it could take up to six minutes after they hang up before service is automatically restored," Kyle confirmed.

New services now available include touch-tone telephones, call forwarding, speed calling, and three-way calling.

Kyle cautioned subscribers not to think their telephone is not working due to the lack of previously encountered noises in the receiver.

"Callers may think at first that their phones aren't working properly, but the equipment will be silently speeding the call to its destination."

"The sound of the dial tone will also be different now the Electronic Switching System (ESS) is in operation," Kyle concluded.

Orienteering - a new sport, set for Camp Shelby in Nov.

Jackson State University and the Mississippi National Guard will co-host the First Magnolia Invitational Orienteering Meet Nov. 12-13 at Camp Shelby in Hattiesburg, Miss. MSG Luis Vargas, drill instructor in the Department of Military Science at JSU, is serving as meet organizer. The deadline for registering to participate in the meet is Nov. 11.

Orienteering is one of the nature sports. It involves the individual orienteer in environmental awareness, physical fitness, map reading skills, compass proficiency, mental acuity and competition. Participants in the meet navigate cross-country over unfamiliar grounds with a map and compass, locating control markers. The idea is to find as many markers in the least amount of time. Three hours is the maximum time allowed.

The sport was introduced on the Jackson State campus in 1975; and a club was started one year later. Membership is not confined to ROTC majors and is open to anyone "in good physical condition," says MSG Vargas.

Club members from JSU have already participated in meets and performed well, capturing first and third place in the intermediate category of competition in the Southern Arkansas Spring Orienteering Festival in 1976.

MSG Vargas said that over 150 schools from across the nation have been invited to the meet. For more information on the event or sport contact

4-H's Try

Incredible Milk Recipes
For a Sunday brunch treat, try cottage cheese pancakes. They're one of many delicious, easy to prepare dairy recipes in "Incredible Milk," a new publication for younger 4-H members.

Produced by Carnation Company for 4-H, "Incredible Milk" also contains cooking lessons and food science experiments, plus information on nutrition and different types of dairy foods and products. It includes tips on giving a dairy foods demonstration and introduces 4-Hers to careers in the dairy industry.

Contents are geared to 9 to 12 years olds in the national 4-H Dairy Foods Program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and supported by Carnation. The program emphasizes dairy foods preparation, science, nutrition and careers.

4-Hers 9-19 can take part in a variety of practical dairy foods projects and activities that are fun as well as educational. And they can earn awards at each level of participation.

COTTAGE CHEESE PANCAKES

4 eggs
1 cup cottage cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Topping

Combine eggs, cottage cheese, salt, oil, flour, sugar and vanilla in blender container or bowl and mix until smooth. Grease skillet or frying pan and turn heat to medium. Make sure the skillet is very hot before you begin frying. (Sprinkle the skillet with a drop of water. If it "sizzles" you are ready to cook.) Drop pancake mixture by the 1/4 cupful onto the hot griddle or skillet. Cook until undersides of the pancakes are brown (edges will be firm and batter will have started to bubble.) Turn pancakes over and cook until the other sides are browned. Serve with your favorite topping. Makes 10 pancakes.

Davis Bayou channel to be dredged

A plan to dredge an entrance channel to reopen boat access from Davis Bayou to Ship, Horn, and Petit Bois Islands in Gulf Islands National Seashore, Miss., was announced today by the National Park Service (NPS). The dredging project, recommended following an environmental review of several alternatives, was approved by Acting Southeast Regional Director David G. Wright.

The plan calls for removing about 24,000 cubic yards of silt from the channel initially, with maintenance dredging to be performed every three to four years over the next 20 years. The channel was last dredged 10 years ago, and is now only two feet deep in some areas.

Silt from the dredging will be deposited on an existing 30-acre spoil site immediately adjacent to the channel. Permits to use the spoil site will be obtained from the Army Corps of Engineers and the Mississippi Marine Resources Council.

Public comment is invited for 60 days on the environmental review of the alternatives assessment, which is on file at NPS regional headquarters, 1895 Phoenix Blvd., Atlanta, and the national seashore's Mississippi District Office at Ocean Springs, Miss.

Wright said the Park Service intends to proceed with the dredging project following the public comment period on the environmental review.

Obituaries

REV. JOHN M. MCKAY
Funeral services for Rev. John Marion McKay, 56, radio and television director for the Mississippi United Methodist Conference, were held Saturday at Main Street United Methodist Church in Hattiesburg. Burial was in Highland Park Cemetery.

Rev. McKay was killed Thursday night when the pickup he was driving collided with a lumber truck on US-49 in Hattiesburg.

He had conducted a series of services at the Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis Oct. 20 through 23, and had delivered sermons last Sunday at the Waveland United Methodist Church at 9 a.m. and at the Bay St. Louis church at 11 a.m.

Rev. McKay and his wife, Mrs. Sara Agnew McKay, were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Gilbert Oliver during their recent stay in Bay St. Louis. A resident of 1302 Marie St., Hattiesburg, he was former pastor of the First United Methodist Churches in Gulfport, Pleasant Hill, Coldwater, Senatobia, Belzoni, Grenada and the First Methodist West Park Church of Jackson.

Rev. McKay was former district superintendent of the church's Hattiesburg District of the Southern Conference of Mississippi.

He directed, produced and was the voice of the Mississippi Methodist Hour carried on 56 radio stations in the state.

He was a native of northern Mississippi and the son of a minister.

In addition to his wife, survivors include two sons, John M. McKay Jr., Gulfport, and Jimmy McKay, Hattiesburg; two daughters, Mary McKay, Gulfport, and Dottie Jo McKay, Memphis, Tenn.; mother, Mrs. Olive McKay, Baldwin; three sisters, Mrs. Baxter Ward, Baldwin, Mrs. Ben Coggin, Nettleton, and Mrs. Wallace Majors, Gulfport; a brother, Carter McKay, Marshall, Tex.; and three grandchildren. Moore Funeral Home in Hattiesburg was in charge of arrangements.

LEE BRITT

Lee-Britt, 84, a retired guard for Tanager Guards, Co., Dallas, Tex., and a resident of 116 Shady Grove Ave., Long Beach for 13 years, died Thursday at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Biloxi. The funeral was Saturday at Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport. Burial followed in Evergreen Gardens Cemetery.

Born in the Oklahoma Territory, he was a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses, the Long Beach Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and a veteran of World War I, serving in the Army.

He is survived by two sons, Donald Britt and Frank Britt, both of Houston, Tex.; two

SJA graduate is hospital administrator

Marion C. Harrison, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Cook Jr., of Bay St. Louis, has been employed by South Mississippi State Hospital as an assistant administrator, according to Carl Lawrence, director of the University of Southern Mississippi Placement Bureau.

Harrison graduated from USM with an M.S. degree in accounting and a minor in business. She is a former student of St. Joseph's Academy.

While attending USM, Harrison was a member of Chi Omega, social society, Pi Omega, Phi business education honor society, Alpha Epsilon Alpha accounting honor society, Phi Beta Lambda honorary business fraternity, and the Newman Club. She also received a merit fellowship.

daughters, Mrs. Mary Lee Tillman of Long Beach and Mrs. Wanda Soy of Houston; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

HELEN LARROUX

Funeral services for Mrs. J. F. (Helen) Larroux, 69, a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, are to be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis. Burial is to be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Larroux, resident of 127 Felicity St., was a member of Our Lady of The Gulf Catholic Church.

Survivors include her husband, Jean F. Larroux; two sons, Jean F. Larroux Jr., and Michael P. Larroux; two daughters, Mrs. L. F. ### 1st Assembly begins revival Evangelists Harlon and Maureen Keel of Granite City, Ill., will give special musical presentations at a First Assembly of God revival this week in Gulfport.

Pastor Eugene H. Hassler will preach at 7:30 p.m. each night Tuesday through Saturday and at 6:30 p.m. next Sunday.

The church is located on 22nd Avenue at 26th Street, one block north of the Pass Road in Gulfport.

VA provides burial money for veterans

The Veterans Administration today reminded former servicemen and women that their families should be made aware of the VA burial allowance available to the eligible veterans.

VA provides up to $250 toward the burial expenses of eligible veterans and an additional $150 is available as a plot or interment allowance, if burial is not in a national cemetery or other government cemetery.

These VA payments will be reduced or eliminated in cases where the veteran's employer or state agency has made such payments.

In cases where a veteran's death is service-connected, VA will pay an amount not to exceed $500 in lieu of the usual burial allowances.

With the exception of Arlington National Cemetery, burial is available to eligible veterans at all national cemeteries having space, and may also be authorized for an eligible veteran's wife or husband, minor children and under certain circumstances unmarried adult children.

Pass Christian was in charge of services.

"THIS FELLA'S GOING TO FLY!" Says Toro (El Bull) kicking hooves into air as George Morris, pants coated with glue, sticks firmly to rodeo rider's seat atop part with wildest motion. Bells underneath animal serve to indicate where bull is at and when they stop clanging it means El Toro has gone to sleep. Morris managed to make distance on this ride, later adjourning to Rocky Hill to spread the news to his fellow jockeys. "Getting on the bull in the pen is no big deal, but getting off again, voluntarily or involuntarily, is no mean feat," Morris stated. El Toro claimed the riding bit didn't take too much time. Said he had followed a couple of good looking heifers down to the fair grounds and was 'roped into' this humpin' a rider routine.

CARBON MONOXIDE CAN KILL

Carbon monoxide poisoning is a hazard that is increasingly dangerous as colder weather sets in. Enclosed houses, garages, shops and other buildings which have open fuel-burning heaters, stoves or charcoal grills increase carbon monoxide contamination, which kills hundreds of people each year. Exposure to exhaust fumes from car, truck or tractor engines, either while inside the vehicle or enclosed in a garage or shop with the engine running, is the most common cause of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Carbon monoxide poisoning occurs when fuels burn incompletely, as is the case with most fuels. This results in not enough fresh air ventilation. To avoid carbon monoxide poisoning in the home, get an expert to inspect fuel-burning equipment yearly to keep it operating properly.

ziness, blurred vision and inability to concentrate. Severe cases of poisoning include nausea, vomiting, shortness of breath, convulsions and death.

The best first aid for carbon monoxide poisoning is plenty of fresh air; then see a doctor immediately.

PIGS NEED GOOD HOME

Don't house your pigs in buildings with wet or damp floors. It's hard to keep pigs healthy if they are housed under wet or cold conditions. To avoid health problems, eliminate drafts and keep pigs dry and warm. Placing wood shavings on the floor for bedding will help keep pigs healthy.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEATHER SUMMARY - It was quite dry throughout the state during the week ending on the 21st and very few places got as much as a tenth of an inch of rain. Most of the state had average temperatures around 6 degrees cooler than usual for this time of the year. Extremes ranged from 24 degrees at Tupelo on the 19th to 89 at Wiggins on the 19th. A warming trend that began in midweek continued through the weekend. By Monday morning there had still been no significant rain in the state for nearly two weeks.

CROP SUMMARY - The crop harvest continued rapidly this past week as weather conditions were ideal. The harvesting of all major field crops is ahead of the 10-year average. The other main farm activity during the week was the planting of winter grazing crops.

Soil moisture supplies were mostly adequate across the state. An average of 5.0 days was suitable for planting compared to 3.5 days last week and 5.5 days for the same week last year. The soybean acreage was 96 percent planted by the 21st of the year, and 73 percent mature. Compared to 75 percent mature last year, an 84 percent for the average. The corn harvest was 84 percent harvested, almost equal to last year's 83 percent. The cotton harvest was 84 percent harvested, almost equal to last year's 83 percent. The rice harvest was 84 percent harvested, almost equal to last year's 83 percent.

The Rocky Hill Rambler

255-7550

by 'Gweny'
Well ya'll we're late again with some worthy news.

The other day while we were shopping we ran into Roger Ladner. He informed me that his brother's horse "Toby Topper's" took first place over a horse name "Run More", brought "in from Louisiana, on Oct. 9, covering a distance of 400 yards. We'd say "Toby Topper's" gave him a fair chance, but if Kirkland wants to bring "Run More" back, Roger (Trainer) and Billy Wayne (owner) are waiting "If they dare!"

While on the subject of horses it seems like a certain attorney from Long Beach doesn't have much confidence in his horse he brought over to the hills as he refused a challenge from John Paul Ladner, owner and trainer of a horse named Blackie. The way the rumor has it, the attorney needed more than 150 yards lead for his horse. If we remember our track days it took only 50 yards to see who could run the fastest.

Oh, we almost forgot, with some coaxing from the Echo and friends, we rode our first horse last Saturday. It belonged to Charles Necaise. We were scared way up there. They tell us the second time won't be so frightening. We wonder if they are right.

For anyone interested in dancing for a good cause, Garland Moran and his Night Travelers play occasionally at our VFW. Tickets are $5 a couple and $3 stag. You can pay at the door. Sounds like the right price for an evening of fun.

Our regrets we couldn't make Mike Ladner's going away party but we spoke to Mike's mother the other night and she told us it was a big success, with fried chicken and gumbo as the main dishes. Everyone was pleased with Sara Deschamps' banana pudding. She told me his wife brought a cake with a little airplane with a runway on it. All in all it was a total success and a wonderful way to say good-bye to Mike. God speed you from us.

Our coaches are far out in doing their job with our children. For those concerned, they are making men out of our boys. Thank you Coaches Favre, Lyle, White and Shaw. For the good news since our last column, all of our teams won. Starting with the Pee Wee's who beat Pearlington, 22-14. Closing their season, the junior team won their last one too with a score of 26-4. Then our High School beat Pine, La. with a halftime score of 27-0 and a final score of 33-4. First two touchdowns were made by David Clark. Then Dennis Nelson picked up 184 yards rushing. Good Luck boys.

Ernest Lee, one of our best centers asked me if we had any extra space he'd like to thank Coach Favre for interceding with his grandmother to let him join the team late. He sure is one happy boy. Even with his pulled ligament he comes around happy these days. Even though he screams and hollers a lot he has all the boys respect and admiration. Our thanks to Coach Favre.

It looks like Randy Green will be away from the hills a few days. As we heard last night, Billie (his mother) had to take him to Pacyune last night for an emergency appendectomy. We wish you a speedy recovery Randy.

The stork flew over Rocky Hill and landed at the Memorial Hospital in Gulfport with a nine pound boy for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moran. Congratulations to you both.

See ya at the races or church,

REGULATORY ACCOUNTABILITY

The Association of Mississippi Agricultural Organizations is seeking to make governmental regulatory agencies more accountable to the people for their actions.

Gus Evans of Shuqualak, president of the group, said the state coalition of agricultural groups has passed a resolution urging that regulatory agencies be required to prepare and make public economic impact studies on all proposed regulatory actions.

The resolution explained that regulatory agencies created by Congress such as the Environmental Protection Agency and the Occupational Safety and Health Administration have been granted broad and far-reaching authorities to promulgate rules and regulations dealing with almost every segment of the national economy.

Started largely by overzealous and highly partisan personnel," the statement charged, "these agencies often issue unrealistic regulations without adequate scientific or economic justification. Rules issued by these agencies have the same effect as law - and farmers, businessmen and industrialists are being flooded by regulations that are sometimes issued without regard to adverse economic or social consequences even though weight of scientific and/or economic evidence has demonstrated the unrealistic nature or the fallacy of proposed actions.

"Since these agencies were created and granted broad and far-reaching powers by the Congress of the United States, we hereby respectfully and urgently request that the Congress hold these agencies accountable for their rule-making activities and that the Congress enact legislation providing for Congressional review of proposed regulations before such regulations are issued.

"Furthermore, we urge that regulatory agencies be required to prepare and make public economic impact studies on all proposed regulatory actions," the group said.

Farmers have been concerned for some time over the damage done to the farm economy by political pressures stemming from groups or individuals with environmental or other claims without substantiation. Such pressures have caused the losses of millions of dollars in crops to insects as politically sensitive government regulators have overreacted to unsubstantiated claims.

In short, farmers in general and the AMAO in particular are asking Congress for honesty and reasonableness in the formation of regulations affecting economic systems with heavy investments and responsibilities to the public. The AMAO group also directed a recommendation to Mississippi farmers urging them to use the commodity loans this year to more orderly market their cotton and soybeans in view of depressed market prices.

representing the Delta studies on all proposed regulatory actions," the group said.

The group said that use of the commodity loan program would prevent all of the current crop from being dumped on the market at once, and would enable many producers to take advantage of probably rising prices after the harvest activity has peaked. They pointed out that right now it is easier for cotton growers to use the loan program than for soybean producers because of the lack of farm and local soybean storage facilities.

Hugh A. Ruler, president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, said the group's request in the Delta states had been a long time in the making. He said the group's request was a result of the current price decline for cotton and that such a decline had not been predicted for the industry.

Yield potential should determine raw milk price

The price producers, including Hancock County dairymen, receive for milk should be based upon its yield potential, according to a Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station (MAFES) dairy scientist.

Edward W. Custer, Mississippi State University professor of dairy

Dairy scientist claims

manufacturing and MAFES dairy microbiologist, noted that "cheese makers have generally recognized that higher cheese yields are associated with higher fat milks; milk of higher butterfat content generally also has higher solids - not fat. With today's technology, cheese makers do not have to rely on this generality. A butterfat-protein formula for pricing producer milk is feasible and justified in today's market when over half the total milk supply goes into manufactured products."

Custer said, "We found very significant differences in cheese yields resulting from what might be considered small differences in milk composition. The difference of approximately one pound of cheese per hundredweight of milk, for example, results from a difference of just one quarter of a percent protein between milks."

"Casein is the major portion of protein that precipitates from milk in the cheese making process to form cheese curd. In the standardized milk used in our research, casein made up 75.84 percent of the protein in the high solid milk and 73.88 percent in the low solids milk. The protein differences in milk have considerable economic significance to both producers and cheese makers."

Custer's research results emphasized this point. Using milk prices at the time he conducted his project, 3.5 percent fat milk cost $8.62 per hundredweight with a 10.5 cent butterfat differential ($1.05 per pound fat). The cost of the standardized milk per hundredweight then was $9.21 for 100 pounds of high solids milk and $8.77 for 100 pounds of low solids milk, a difference of 44 cents per hundredweight extra for high solids milk.

This, applied to cheese yield (38 percent moisture basis) and value, shows an 11.06 pound cheese yield from 100

NOTICE OF NEW VOTER REGISTRATION CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI

TO THE CITIZENS OF BAY ST. LOUIS:

As required by law, the City of Bay St. Louis will begin a new registration of voters on November 1, 1977, and all citizens are urged to register or re-register by coming to the City Clerk's Office, second floor, City Hall between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office will be open during the noon hour.

Persons unable to register during office hours or unable to climb the stairs may call the City Registrar at 467-9060, and arrangements will be made. If unable to call during office hours, call the Registrar at home, 467-7916, and arrangements will also be made.

Names of all electors registering in the new registration books will be entered into new poll books. Should an election be necessary during one year from November 1, 1977, persons listed in both the old and new poll books will be qualified to vote. After November 1, 1978, only the new poll books will be used. Therefore, even if you are already registered in the City, except those who registered within the past 30 days, you must re-register to qualify to vote after November 1, 1978.

State law requires that you be registered at the Hancock County Courthouse before registering in the City of Bay St. Louis.

PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS!

Respectfully,
H. E. Engelhorn
City Clerk and Registrar of Voters

The Pre-Arranging and Pre-Financing of Funerals

Those Who Survive Are Important

Before prescribing a definite kind of funeral or type of final disposition, it is always wise to consider and consult those survivors who will be most affected by the death. Grant them the opportunity to be active planning participants not just passive spectators.

This is prudent because when death comes it may have strong emotional impact upon the other members of the family. Permitting them to assist in making funeral and burial arrangements could serve as a healthy outlet for their grief and anxiety. Giving them the privilege of performing a last act of recognition, honor, and respect for the deceased will dramatize eloquently to all the reality that a life has been lived.

On the other hand, if the rites or absence of them are set forth in a pre-arrangement agreement, survivors could be denied meeting the deep psychological and emotional needs at the time of death. Inappropriate arrangements could affect adversely the sensitivities and sensibilities of those who remain. Thus, it is important to remember while the funeral is of the person who has died, it is for those who survive.

A country boy gets full of soup

by S.G. Thigpen (Hancock County historian)

Due to the great inconveniences of travel, and the great amount of time consumed in going even short distances away from home back before the railroad came through in 1884, also due to the shortage of money with many, most people living in this area had never been to New Orleans or to any other city.

While now we go into New Orleans in a matter of minutes it would take days to make the trip 80 to 100 years ago. It would take a whole day to go from the Picayune area to Gainesville by the slow way of travel, in those days. After spending the night in Gainesville it would take another day to get to New Orleans by steamboat, the only transportation available back then. After spending a day, or more, there, it would take another two days to get back home.

When the railroad came through, many people, if not most people, looked forward with great anticipation to visiting the big city. Since few people had ever been to a city of any size, except the small town of Gainesville, they were unfamiliar with city ways and customs. Many stories were gleefully told by old timers of country boys going to town for the first time. Uncle Van Stockstill said, when on his first trip to New Orleans about 1880 when he gave a waiter his order for breakfast, the waiter belled back to the cook, "One country," meaning of course that this was the standard order for country people. Another tale, which I doubt is true but was told with delight, was of the country boy who had been directed to a certain

He nonchalantly looked over the menu trying to give the impression to the waiter and to other diners that he was considering what to order. Finally, he pointed to a certain item and said, "Gimme that there." When the waiter asked if he wanted anything else he airily said, "No."

As he waited, his mouth watered in anticipation of location in New Orleans with this instruction: "When you get off the train, go across the street and catch a street car." He crossed over to the street car track in the middle of the block. When the street car came by he raced with it to try to catch it, but was thrown sprawling on the ground. The motorman stopped the car, came back and asked the man, "Why didn't you wait until I stopped?" The man replied, "Well, they told me I'd have to catch it." And here is another one: when the bell boy held out his hand for a tip, the man shook hands with him.

Old time tales with many variations are told and retold, and laughed at by each generation of people. Most of the old tales, in one guise or another, are well known to all, but the story of the country boy full of soup is, I believe, original.

As it was told to me, a young fellow back around 1900 who grew up in this general area had heard about the fine restaurants in the French Quarter in New Orleans. He had heard of Fabacher's, Antoine's, Galatoire's, Kolb's and others. He had heard men tell of the exotic foods, and the sparkling drinks at these famed eating and drinking places. More than anything else this young man wanted to visit these famed restaurants and experience the supreme pleasure of dining in them.

This young man worked regularly and saved his money until the day came when he had saved up enough to make his long planned, and long dreamed about trip to the far famed great city on the banks of the Mississippi River. He caught the oldtime fast train No. 41 early in the morning and arrived in New Orleans around 8 a.m.

He had had no breakfast and was hungry. He walked up the street, all eyes, taking in the sights, but especially looking for one of the famed eating places he had heard so much about. He had not gone far when he saw the names of a restaurant he recognized as one of the ones he was looking for.

He went into the restaurant. He was ushered to a table by an alert waiter, who handed him a menu. He took a look at it but did not understand a word of it - it was printed in French, or at least in words he did not understand or know the meaning of, like for instance the word consomme for soup.

Our young man had regularly read the big city papers and popular magazine in which there were often stories of country "rubes" or "greenhorns" who were the butts of many jokes in the periodicals of that day. Also he had heard others talk and joke about going to the city. Before going to New Orleans he had firmly made up his mind to appear suave and worldly-wise and not "green" or "country."

some appetizing world-famous dish that this restaurant was noted for. Sooner than expected, the waiter appeared with a bowl of soup and some crackers.

He ate the soup with great relish as it was good, and he was hungry. After he had finished with the soup he sat expectantly waiting for more food. All his previous experience was with country restaurants and hotels where regular meals were served, with soup served first. It had never occurred to him that he had only ordered soup.

Soon the waiter appeared and asked him what else he would have. He then realized that in giving his unknown order, he had asked only for soup.

Again acting so, as he thought, not to appear "ignorant" or "green" he turned over to the second page of the menu, and then trying to appear again as if studying it, he pointed at random to another item, saying, "Gimme that there."

Feeling sure that having gone way over on the menu, some delectable dish would soon be forthcoming, the young man sat day dreaming with visions of a well cooked steak with all the trimmings, or possibly a sea food feast such as he had read about. To his startled surprise, the waiter soon appeared and set before him a large bowl of a different color and different kind of soup. For a moment, he was plainly confused. He had eaten heartily of the first bowl of soup, and wanted no more, but as he looked at it, the aroma from the steaming soup reached his olfactory senses. It smelled good. As he had not eaten since the night before and was very hungry after about 15 hours without food, he proceeded to eat the soup with pleasure.

When he had finished the second helping of soup, the waiter again placed the menu before him and asked him if he would have anything else. He turned to the third page and, taking his time as if seriously deliberating what to order, he went about half way down to be real sure this time to get away from soup. In what he meant to be an off-hand way he pointed to a line and said, "Gimme that there."

While the two servings of soup had blunted his keen appetite, he still felt the need of more substantial food than just soup. Again he dreamily speculated on what tasty and attractive food would be set before him.

At this point, I hesitate to go further with this story, it sounds so fantastic, so ridiculous, so incredible that I am afraid no one is going to believe me, but it happened again - he got a third bowl of soup. I would never have believed it myself if the man who had this unusual experience had not sworn to be he was telling the truth. Knowing him to be a truthful man, I had to believe him when he swore he was served another bowl of soup.

With this third serving of soup, our country boy was confused, confounded, and flabbergasted! He sat there for a time to regain his composure.

He was by now so full of soup that he had no appetite for any more food, however as he looked at it, he noted that it was a heavier soup - more like a gumbo and it smelled good even in his soup-saturated condition. Still having a horror of appearing "country" or "green," he dwelled around with the soup, eating a little bit of it, but mostly going through the motions.

When the waiter again appeared, he asked for his bill. Before picking up the money to take to the cashier, the waiter placed before the young man a small bowl filled with water. In the country eating places he was familiar with, no such courtesy as this was never before extended to him. Now, he was not thirsty but since the waiter had been thoughtful enough to place the water before him, he drank it.

As this good man told it, he was now so full of soup that he had no desire to visit any of the famous bars on his list. He was so full of soup that he felt lazy and sleepy. In this condition he made his way back to the depot and caught the next train home. No, this country boy was not me, but I'll admit that it could have been.

Hancock nurserymen given energy saving tips, ways

Energy problems rarely are a serious threat to producers employing the newest management techniques, speakers stressed during the recent Ornamental Horticulture Field Day at the Mississippi Branch, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station (MAFES).

Hugh A. Poole, extension floriculturist, Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, told some 100 nurserymen, state officials and researchers that the best energy problem solutions is "the grower seeing what he can do and doing it."

Poole, minimizing the threat to nurserymen of plants imported from other states or nations, emphasized that "nobody can serve the local area better than the local grower, but he must be efficient. The consumer cannot be expected to subsidize inefficiency." Among his suggestions for conserving energy were:

1. Increase turnover with more crops per year.
2. Use thermostats at crop level and periodically check their accuracy.
3. Isolate and heat only areas of the greenhouse actually being used.
4. Concentrate on getting root systems established with sufficient warmth. Then, under most conditions, reduce heat.

5. Consider using double layer polyethylene, with a layer of air between, over the greenhouse to insulate against outdoor temperatures.

6. Heat close to plants at night instead of heating above them.

7. Be sure all crops are off the ground.

8. Emphasize, where markets are receptive, crops that require lower temperatures and smaller growing areas.

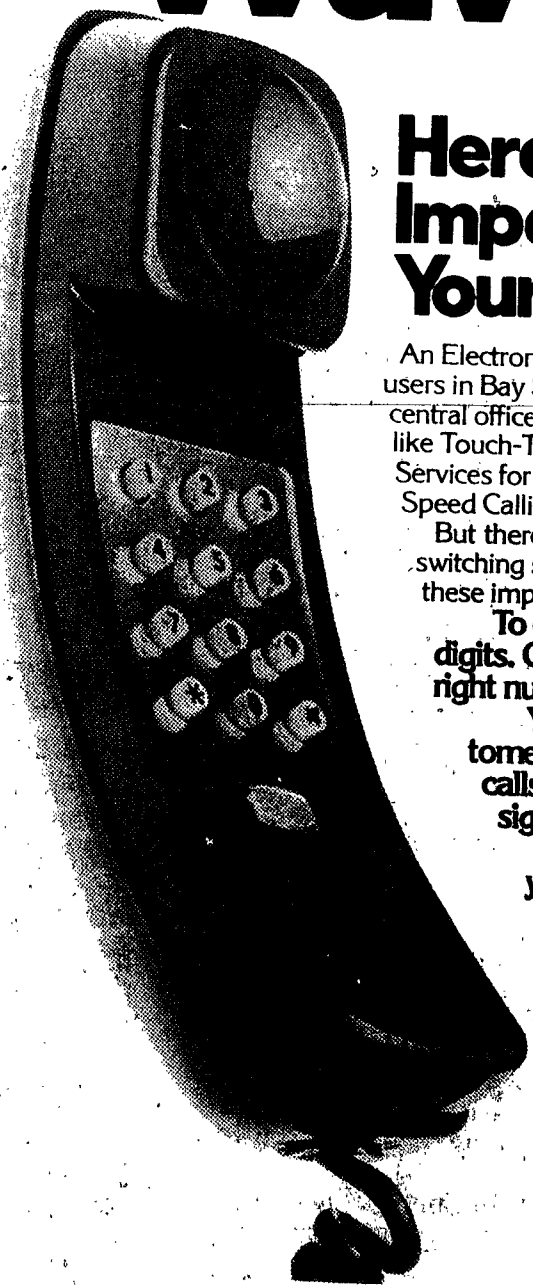

9. Consider economically feasible structural additions such as thermal blankets, reflective plates and wind breaks.

10. Get maximum efficiency from the boiler, at least 80 percent.

Other program participants were Walter E. Davis, extension area horticulture specialist and secretary, Mississippi Nurserymen's Association, who presented an extension report on ornamental horticulture; Jack C. Coley, director, Division of Plant Industry, Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce, who outlined nursery certification and license requirements; and A. J. Laiche, Jr., MAFES associate horticulturist, South Mississippi Branch Experiment Station, who described the branch station's ornamental horticulture research.

The field day was sponsored by MAFES and the Mississippi State University.

Hello Bay St. Louis-Waveland!

Here's Some Important News About Your Telephone Service.

An Electronic Switching System (ESS) now serves all telephone users in Bay St. Louis and Waveland. And, with better, expanded ESS central office service, you can get many new optional service features like Touch-Tone® pushbutton dialing, as well as Custom Calling Services for Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three-Way Calling, and Speed Calling.

But there are a few changes brought about by our new ESS switching system that you need to know. So, please remember these important points:

To complete a local call, you must now dial all seven digits. Check your phone book to be sure you have the right number. You don't hear the dialing sounds you're accustomed to anymore. ESS equipment is speeding your calls through very quietly. And your dial tone, busy signal, and ringing tones sound a little different, too. In addition, on one- and two-party service, you no longer need to give the operator your number when you dial a One-Plus long distance call. The new equipment identifies your number automatically.

IMMUNIZATIONS
A University of Mississippi pharmacologist professor says all children should become a part of an immunization program at the age of six months. Dr. Arthur Kibbe says a lowered public consciousness of the effects of polio has resulted in a decrease in immunizations and a potential for an outbreak. Quoting federal statistics, he said 37 percent of all pre-school children were not immunized against polio and other childhood diseases last year.

Book Review

Bay St. Louis

by Sarah Camp

"TRUE GRITS"
By Bantam Books
"True Grits" is another one of those cutesy Southern guides for Yankees so much in vogue since the Carter Administration.

This one is an interpretation of Southern cooking, giving the definition of such dishes as Hoppin' John and Chittlin's. A few recipes are also given, but most of these are to serve twenty, which is impractical for everyday cooking. None of the recipes are unique, but can be found in standard cookbooks.

If you have Yankee friends that are turned on to this sort of thing, this brief little book will make a nice gift. But most Southerners will pick it up, smile, and put it back in the rack.

Long Mama Taught Me

When I was just a little girl,
A babe of only three
I'd sit and rock and sing the songs
My Mama sang to me.

One song that I loved best of all,
A little girl making a telephone call.
She was lonesome and wanted her own Mother,
For to her, on earth, there was no other.

She asked "central" to give her headin',
For she knew her Mother was there;
She knew just where they'd find her,
For she was with the angels on the golden stair.

She knew her Mother would bid her welcome
As they spoke on the Royal telephone;
I think the little girl was lonesome,
And wanted her mother to come home.

All the beautiful words I can't recall,
Of this song that I loved best of all.
I'd like to hear my Mama sing again
Those old time songs and sweet refrains.
